OBJECTIVE OF THE ACTIVITY	To help students undertand process of Innovation Development
REPORT	As an Initiative of MIMT IIC initiated a session as calender activity for the quarter-2 of academic session 2021-22 on the agenda process of innovation development and Technology readiness level for a satrtup and innovative ideas to be taken upon. It was addressed during the sesion that Technology readiness assessment is a systematic, metrics-based process that evaluates the maturity of, and the risk associated with, critical technologies under development. It is a commonly accepted approach used in a number of industry and government organizations to assess the maturity of a technology (e.g., device, material, component, process, etc.) on an entire scale - from its invention to commercialization and wide-scale application. The session has given a great insight to the participants about the process adopted in inception and validating ideas to commercialisation.
OUTCOME OF THE ACTIVITY	Developed an enhanced understanding about the process of taking up Innovation.
